

ARoS Junior Museum

ARoS Junior Workshop is a special department for children and young people under the age of 16 at ARoS Art Museum. It is a place where children and their parents are meant to share the experience of art through play, creative assignments and reflection. It is a place where the busy everyday life meets the world of art and contemplation. Through common experience children and their parents are introduced to new ways of approaching art.

In the ARoS Junior Workshop children enter the world of art on their own terms. Children are curious and inquiring by nature. Through play, they get inspired and learn about art in a fun and untraditional way. In the Junior Workshop, enjoyment and understanding go hand in hand.

Working with creative assignments in the Junior Workshop, children and their families are provided with tools to explore the techniques of art. This opens a world of possibilities and gives a chance to discover new ways of expressing oneself. Here, the children learn through practical experience.

ARoS Junior wishes to inspire children and their families to think about art in their everyday lives. In the Junior Workshop and Junior Gallery, the activities are connected with the current exhibitions at ARoS. In the Junior Gallery, children are stimulated to reflect on and talk about art with their families.

Welcome to a world of new impressions and creative learning.

A visit to ARoS Junior is not only a fun experience, but a stepping stone to further discovering the world of art.

For further information, please contact:

Birgit Pedersen
Curator / Education Officer
ARoS Aarhus Kunstmuseum
bp@aros.dk